International Organization on “Food Security Day” celebrated at Astana
Kazakhstan on 12 December 2022

12th December 2022

The Islamic Organization for Food Security (IOFS) celebrated December 12 as IOFS Day, during which it presented the results of all the work accomplished during the year, and also held a briefing on the main outcomes of the "Year of Africa". The diplomatic corps and experts from more than 20 countries, as well as representatives of the international media, arrived in Astana to participate in the forum. “I would like to invite all Member States and international organizations to become our partners in the implementation of the Africa Food Security Initiative (AFSI), which is the result of the resounding success of the IOFS Year of Africa in 2022. Therefore, IOFS will continue to support Africa's commitment to a sustainable food system through its projects and programmes. I hope that we will succeed, but I firmly believe that our efforts will be more effective with your support,” said IOFS General Director H.E. Yerlan Baidaulet in his welcoming speech. The forum participants noted the position of IOFS as a key platform for coordinating all flows of food security programs in the countries of the Islamic world. The year 2022 has been chosen as the "Year of Africa" by the Islamic Food Security Organization. IOFS believes that food security in Africa can be achieved if all international, regional and national institutions supported by IOFS Member States join forces to achieve this goal. IOFS calls for "commitment to work together to achieve concrete results to improve food systems in Africa." Throughout the year, the Organization worked with African governments and other partners to develop the African agricultural sector and implement its strategic programs.

It is important to emphasize that the reason for choosing the main theme is related to the fact that Africa is not on track to achieve Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 2 to end hunger, ensure that all people have access to safe, nutritious and adequate food all year round and eliminate all forms of malnutrition. In addition, the number of hungry people in Africa has increased by 47.9 million since 2014 and now stands at 250.3 million, or almost a fifth of the population.

IOFS is convinced that demonstrating the active solidarity of Member States with those in desperate need in Africa and the determination to commit to providing the focus on their food security and agricultural development in this very difficult and critical period in the history of the continent should be the top priority of IOFS and needs to be implemented without further delay.

It should be noted that the President of the Republic of Kazakhstan, Kassym-Jomart Tokayev, pays special attention to ensuring food security both at the global and regional levels. At the 77th session of the UN General Assembly in New York, President Tokayev announced "the intention to strengthen cooperation with the Islamic Organization for Food Security (IOFS), as well as with UN agencies", with the aim of providing worldwide assistance in the formation of food reserves for large-scale international humanitarian actions through the IOFS.

During the CICA Summit (October 10-11, 2022, Astana), the President of Kazakhstan noted: "We need to develop unified approaches to assess the compliance of significant products with national standards, as well as create "green" corridors between CICA member states for this category of goods" . Tokayev noted that a promising direction for CICA is to establish cooperation with the Islamic Organization for Food Security, whose headquarters is located in Astana. IOFS extends its gratitude and recognition to the partners who have worked in various venues for the benefit of African Member States in conjunction with the IOFS.

On the official invitation by government of Kazakhstan, Mr. Khalid Taimur Akram attended the event by “Organization of Food Security” at Astana, Kazakhstan.

Mr. Khalid Taimur, ED, PRCCSF visited N. Nazarbayev Center for the Development of Interfaith and Intercivilizational Dialogue at Astana, Kazakhstan

During the meeting, Ambassador Kairat Sarybay briefed about CICA's importance in regional cooperation and scope of work. He explained role of Kazakhstan in CICA and prospects for future collaboration with other institutions and countries. Mr. Khalid Taimur Akram appreciated the role of CICA in regional connectivity.

He stated that CICA is an integrated platform that has accommodated all regional stakeholders to discuss common areas of cooperation and eradicate issues. Mr. Akram stated that CICA will go beyond the region as it has all the potential to become a great platform for finding common grounds and achieving shared aspirations. He also described the role of Pakistan in CICA platform and over-all work scope of the country. He also acknowledged Kazakhstan as an emerging giant hub in the regional discourse under the dynamic policies of President Tokayev. He stated that the country is on the way towards political modernization and CICA will get new impetus because of grand reforms.

Meeting between Mr. Khalid Taimur & Mr. Askar Umarov, Director, Central Communication Service, Kazakhstan at Astana

14th December 2022

On 14 December 2022, Mr. Khalid Taimur Akram, Executive Director, Pakistan Research Center for a Community with Shared Future (PRCCSF) had a detailed meeting with Mr. Askar Kuanyshevich Umarov, Director of the Central Communication Service under the President of the Republic of Kazakhstan. During the meeting at Astana-Kazakhstan, both parties discussed various important topics, including regional connectivity and how to enhance Pakistan and Kazakhstan role in this process of regionalism. The relevance of BRI was also discussed as Kazakhstan is a landlocked state. Thus, BRI can serve the country well in order to extend its global outreach towards warm water for increasing trade and cooperation.

Both sides also discussed to enhance research cooperation in various fields. It was affirmed that cultural cooperation is important for fostering people-to-people contacts. It was also discussed that joint issues must be resolved through an integrated regional framework that can be beneficial for all states involved. Pakistan and Kazakhstan have much potential for increasing economic and trade collaboration under new projects and transit routes. Thus, the leadership of both nations can play a dynamic role for reviving Central-South Asian regional connectivity.

The article discussed that the Port of Baku is to maximize Azerbaijan's transit capacity in turning the port into the key trade and logistics hub of Eurasia. Turning liberated regions into digital cities and making them capable of revitalizing trade connectivity have proved to be important steps for formulating a framework. It can be easily anticipated that the Port of Baku will be the game-changer for the entire region and countries far beyond. It is evident that these routes will be closely related and even complementary to each other as they hold the potential to have long-term impacts on international trade.
