Key Takeaways of the Conference:

- a. The successful conduct of the international conference, which the Ministry of Defence of the Russian government hosted, has proved to be a milestone in exhibiting the global outreach of the Russian diplomatic efforts.
- b. The participation of Defence Ministries/Defence Forces Chiefs and other high-level delegations from more than thirty-five countries and their acknowledgement of the Russian efforts for playing an important geostrategic role in the world is a clear manifestation of successful foreign policy adopted by His Excellency, Vladimir Putin, President of Russia.
- c. The program of the forum included the most imminent issues of the contemporary global and regional security agenda in the solution of which the key role belongs to defence agencies.
- d. It is noteworthy that regional experts from Middle East, ASEAN, South Asia, Eurasia, Latin America, and Africa were on the view that NATO and the U.S.

expansion model cannot be adjusted in the regional landscape as every region has their own model. Thus, the U.S. must shed the orthodox notion of expansion and stop sabotaging the sovereignty of other states.

- e. A consensus was developed by all the speakers/experts from different regions and countries that war is not a solution to any problem. Thus, military expansion and arm race must be restrained. In this aspect, all countries must join hands to strengthen global security architecture.
- f. There should be the restoration of the system under international agreements under the auspice of international law. This will pave the way for states to cooperate at a wider level. Moreover, all countries should establish the confidence building measures (CBM) and devise policies that can be produced to ensure strategic stability.
- g. In this regard, seeking fairness and justice while keeping shared values are significant aspects for assembling peace, stability and sustainable development. This will provide an impetus to democracy and human rights.
- h. The international conference was beneficial for global think tanks, defence/military agencies, and governments. The fruitful discussions and speeches by the high-level dignitaries from various countries were amid pertinent policy recommendations for future security discourse and defence cooperation.
- i. Since all the diplomats stationed at Moscow were attending this conference, so it was heartening to witness that the Defense wing, and Embassy of Pakistan to Moscow enjoy an excellent relation with almost everyone. This indicates that our diplomats stationed at Russia are putting exceptional efforts in enhancing Pakistan's global image.
- j. The speech by Lt. General Muhammad Hilal (Retd), Secretary of Defence, Ministry of Defence, Pakistan attained much appreciation from the participants. He successfully articulated and presented Pakistan's narrative/view on various security aspects.
